

Cergen GmbH is a leading technology company in the field of NANOCRYSTALLINE soft magnetic cores and components. With the professional know-how in the design and manufacturing of NANOCRYSTALLINE cores, assemblies and custom designs, the company can guarantee the highest quality and performance to industries.

High Performance Over Broadband

Cergen provides extensive application know-how. Our sophisticated EMC laboratory in China provides a wide range of testing options for our customers, supported by specialized engineers.

Very suitable for uses like:

- Electrical automotive
- Railway equipments
- Industrial automation
- Precision instruments
- Wind power inverters
- Solar PV inverters
- Air-conditioning systems
- Inverter drives
- Safety installations

Cergen GmbH is headquartered in Germany with own production facility in China. From our China facility we ship worldwide. Our European customers are served directly from our Germany stock. This gives Cergen a unique advantage in customer support, delivery time, performance and quality at very competitive prices.